

MASTER OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

UQ's Master of International Relations (MIR) delivers an advanced understanding of some of the greatest issues and challenges in contemporary world politics, international security, foreign affairs, and international and regional governance.

The MIR program at UQ focuses on traditional and contemporary global issues and offers more than 30 courses covering the main elements of international relations.

You will have access to world-class teachers and researchers who are in touch with industry partners and participate in regular public commentary and debate in their fields.

You will study alongside students who come from a range of countries and backgrounds, and can gain hands-on experience through the internship program – an opportunity to work closely with an organisation in Australia or overseas.

You can also undertake a research thesis as part of your program.

The MIR program is housed in the Graduate Centre in Governance and International Affairs within the School of Political Science and International Studies.

The Centre aims to take your student experience to a new level with a strong focus on enhancing the employability of graduates as future leaders by offering activities beyond the classroom and growing a community of learners and researchers.

Whether you are looking for a career in government, at the World Bank or non-government organisations, in major project management or journalism, the MIR will equip you with the necessary analytical and practical skills for your career.

COURSES

Choose from a range of course topics including:

- International Security
- Foreign Policy and Diplomacy
- Critical Security Studies
- Laws of War
- Dynamics of Governance
- International Crisis Management
- Diplomacy & Conflict Mediation
- Global Health Policy
- Writing Politics
- Security and Development
- Arms Control & Disarmament
- Law, Terrorism and Human Rights

Program	Master of International Relations
Entry requirements	16 unit program: approved bachelor honours degree in the same discipline with a GPA of 5 24 unit program: approved bachelor degree in the same discipline with a GPA of 5 or an approved degree in any discipline plus three years related work experience 32 unit program: approved degree in any discipline with a GPA of 5
Duration	The Master of International Relations is offered as a 16, 24 or 32 unit program equivalent to two, three or four semesters of full-time study, depending on your undergraduate qualification and experience A Graduate Certificate in International Relations is also available
Intake	Semester 1 and Semester 2

For further information contact the Graduate Centre in Governance and International Affairs: polsis.gradcentre@uq.edu.au

